I Was Just Thinking...

I was digging in the garage last month in preparation for Passover, getting to all the Passover plates and other wares necessary for the spring ritual. Behind all the Haggadahs and plagues (plastic iterations of the real things!) I came across a New York Times front page that I had framed 21 years ago that proudly shows President Clinton, Yassir Arafat and Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, of blessed memory, together formalizing the end to the Israeli Palestinian hostility. It shows that historic handshake between Rabin and Arafat and contains, at least for me, the historic gasp of, "this might mean actual peace." The pain of the irony of history laid against that picture being found at Passover, the moment of national redemption was almost too much to bear. That and noting that the glass protecting the newspaper had broken – a sad testament to the broken promises and broken dreams of Middle East peace, made for a moment of tears. My how far we haven't come....

I was staring at that picture the other day wondering what all three of those men would think of the recent embrace of Hamas by Palestinian Authority President Mahmoud Abbas. I was struggling to find some words of outrage and exasperation when I stumbled upon Leil Leibowitz's article on this issue. Her words spoke to my heart and gave voice to my shocked silence.

I include her article here. She writes, "Last week, Palestinian Authority President Mahmoud Abbas stepped up, stared destiny in the face, and boldly embraced Hamas, ending a seven-year rift between the PLO and the terrorist organization currently in command of the Gaza Strip.

Anyone seriously invested in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict should be grateful to Abbas for providing what this conflict - a century-long thriller in which the plot lines have become impossible to follow - needed most: a moment of clarity. With Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu on one end and Hamas's Ismail Haniyeh on the other, Abbas emerged as the Third Man, stepping out of the shadows to reveal that he was just the man we'd suspected he was all along, the kind of man who walks away from strenuous peace talks and into the arms of murderers.

I've written about Abbas's choice already. There's nothing more to say: There's really only so much one can read into partnering with an organization responsible for the blowing up of 21 young people at a disco, or 15 people at a pizzeria, or 30 people sitting down to celebrate the Passover Seder. So, let's not waste time talking about Abbas's choice anymore; it's time to talk about ours.

Living in modern and increasingly complex societies governed by so many intertwining interests and conflicting forces, we've come to sanctify complexity, cherish nuance, and believe that our every analysis, our every thought, was best if guided by layer upon layer of context and meaning. But there's another drive at play, the moral drive, which is far more blunt and far more pressing. And right now, if we're healthy and mindful human beings with at least a modicum of historical knowledge and a genuine desire to see peace for both Palestinians and Israelis, this moral drive is telling us to shout.

It's telling us to shout, because while both sides of this conflict have seen seasoned combatants drop their arms and attempt reconciliation, there ought to be no room ever around any cabinet's table for men who packed makeshift bombs tight with nails and screws and bolts to better tear at the flesh of innocent children. It's telling us to shout because while both sides have their share of outspoken dunces with shameful opinions, no one in their right mind should share power with those whose ignorance and bigotry extend so far as to deny the Holocaust. It's telling us to shout because while there's been questionable legislation on both sides of the Green Line over the years, the tolerance of every civilized person should end when confronted with those who dispatch armed forces to oppress their women, who systematically persecute minorities, and who know no other form of conduct but wanton violence. Such men are not complex. They are not nuanced, layered, or worthy of a closer reading. They are evil, and they must be dealt with accordingly lest their benighted vision succeed in afflicting more misery and claiming more lives.

Of course, some of us may find talk of evil anathema to the dictates of sophistication and the edicts of cosmopolitanism. Some may argue, as J Street so disappointingly did this week, that 'one makes peace with one's enemies.' There's truth to that, but only if one's enemies are ready to abandon their quest to obliterate a people by launching thousands of rockets into schoolyards, backyards, and living rooms. Hamas has indicated no such readiness. Nor can it: As its very charter indicates, the organization is dedicated to annihilating the state of Israel; "in the face of the Jews' usurpation of Palestine," goes one choice bit from its charter, 'it is compulsory that the banner of Jihad be raised.' You will read nothing of the banner of Jihad in the statement released by the American Friends of Peace Now, which calls Hamas's pending inclusion in the Palestinian government 'a good idea.'

But as some flounder, others rise to the occasion. Speaking with clarity, courage, and conviction, Rep. Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, R-Fla., who chairs the House Foreign Affairs Panel on the Middle East, called on the Obama administration to do the right thing.

I Was Just Thinking...con't

'The Administration must halt aid to the Palestinian Authority and condition any future assistance as leverage to force Abu Mazen [Mahmoud Abbas] to abandon this reconciliation with Hamas and to implement real reforms within the P.A.,' Ros-Lehtinen said in a statement. 'U.S. law is clear on the prohibition of U.S. assistance to a unity Palestinian government that includes Hamas, a designated Foreign Terrorist Organization, and President Obama must not allow one cent of American taxpayer money to help fund this terrorist group.'

Amen to that. And many thanks once again to Abbas: By partnering with the beasts of Hamas he has condemned his own people to live under an encroaching Taliban-like religious fundamentalism, has very likely deprived his already corrupt and nearly bankrupt government of the foreign aid on which it depends for most of its budget, and has signaled - again - that he lacks the maturity of mind and amplitude of will required of a statesman truly striving for the well-being of his people. But he's given us a moment of brilliant clarity, and that, in such dark times, is a lot."

I pray that, as we approach Israel Independence Day 2014, the world come to embrace, with clarity, what we know to be true; that Israel's real chance for peace comes only with partners who value peace and prosperity for themselves, their neighbors and the world. Unless and until Israel has such partners, we will struggle against that darkness, remaining hopeful that one day light and shalom will shine through. May that day be soon.

The President's Perspective

Dear Friends,

As my term as President of Temple Shalom comes to a close this month, I want to thank you for providing me with the opportunity to serve our congregation in this role. As much as anything, I want to Thank you for providing me with the opportunity to serve our congregation in this role. As much as anything, I want to remind everyone reading this column that the position of Temple President truly is an honor and I have felt that way every day over the past two years. I hope I have represented Temple Shalom in a way that makes you proud to be a part of our community.

I sincerely thank, love and appreciate the chance to work with Rabbi Paley, Rabbi Boxman, Steve Lewis, Cantor Emeritus Croll and our entire professional team. We are very fortunate to have such dedicated, passionate clergy and staff helping us fulfill our mission.

Our Executive Team and Board of Trustees had fun together, worked hard together and kept our congregation's best interests in mind throughout the last two years, both in what we accomplished and what we decided did not need to be addressed at a certain moment. We continue having strong, intelligent, thoughtful leaders making a difference in our community, and our future is very bright!

My family has been tremendously supportive of my time and energy directed to Temple Shalom over the past several years, especially during my term as President. Karen, Lauren and 2-year SHFTY President Matthew, hear my thanks and appreciation all the time and get to read it here! Having Matthew represent our youth at Temple Board meetings over the last two years has been a special thrill that I will never forget. Thank you, thank you and thank you!

I look forward to continuing my work on our Executive Team as the Immediate Past President as we move forward in so many exciting ways.

I encourage others who have interests in serving in various capacities, whether it be on the Temple Board of Trustees, being a Temple Officer, working with our auxiliaries or serving the congregation in different ways, to be active! Find a place and find your passion at Temple Shalom!

See you soon - with great thanks,

Aric

Aric L. Stock, Temple President

Lifelong Learning Council

A few weeks ago I was facilitating a family education program and, for the mixer, I had participants stand by a sign indicating their favorite holiday. Families scattered around the room and clustered near Purim, Hanukkah and even Passover, but not one person stood before the sign that read "Shavuot". I wondered why. Was this truly an unpopular holiday or was it merely unfamiliar? Since Shavuot is one of my favorite holidays, I took special interest in this situation. The holiday of Shavuot, or the Festival of Weeks, is a joyous holiday. It is a harvest festival which celebrates first fruits, however, it is also the time in which we commemorate the giving of the Torah at Mount Sinai. On the holiday of Shavuot, it is traditional to eat dairy foods, such as cheesecake and blintzes and stay up late learning and praying. As a nerdy Jewish educator (and lover of cheesecake), Shavuot comes in as a top three Jewish Holiday for me. It is a time in which we get to learn for the sake of learning and then fill our bellies with delicious treats. This year at Temple Shalom, we will be celebrating Shavuot in an exciting way and I hope you will all have a chance to join us for a night of learning, socializing and, of course, eating!

On Tuesday, June 3rd at 7:00pm, we will meet at Temple Shalom for a Shavuot program. From 7:00pm-8:45pm there will be a variety of electives for teens and adults to choose from (each lasting 45 minutes). Electives will be taught by clergy, staff and congregants and will be hands-on and interactive. There will be opportunities for discussion, dancing, film, creative writing and even baking. Following our two learning sessions, we will come together for a reception of dairy treats (including those baked in our elective) and wine. Our night will conclude with a short prayer service in which we can celebrate our Torah and give thanks for the gift of first fruits.

Our Shavuot celebration is one not to be missed! Keep a look out for a more detailed program in which all the electives will be listed. For more information, please feel free to contact me.

Where Do Rabbis Come From?

What might seem like a complicated question has a simple answer—rabbis come from rabbinical students! We at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion (HUC-JIR) will address this question in more detail by answering three additional questions.

WHAT is HUC-JIR? There are several rabbinical seminaries in the United States, representing many streams of Judaism, whose graduates become rabbis for the four major denominations of Judaism; Reform, Conservative, Reconstructionist and Orthodox. There are some rabbinical schools that are totally independent, training rabbis who will serve unaffiliated congregations. But the first, the oldest, and the largest is your own Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion. HUC-JIR was founded in Cincinnati in 1875, and is the oldest school of higher Jewish learning in the United States. HUC-JIR is Reform Judaism's rabbinical school with campuses in Cincinnati, New York, Los Angeles and Jerusalem, making this a truly international seminary!

WHO are the HUC-JIR Rabbinical Students? They are people from various family backgrounds: families who are traditionally Jewish, families with parents of different faiths, and non-Jewish families where the rabbinical student has become a Jew by choice. They are people from most continents of the world (not Antarctica, yet), many countries, and most states. They are amazing women and men who have one thing in common, a deep desire to serve, lead and teach the Jewish people!

WHY do students choose to attend Rabbinical school on the Cincinnati campus of HUC-JIR? The largest Jewish library in the entire world, outside of Israel, is not in New York, London, Chicago, or Los Angeles. The second largest Jewish library in the world is the Klau Library in Cincinnati. Tens of millions of Jewish letters, photographs, sound recordings, documents, war memorabilia and the stories of your family are housed at The American Jewish Archives in Cincinnati. Students are educated and trained by our world renowned faculty, on a beautiful campus with multiple resources, and within a community full of many opportunities for practical experience and interfaith dialogue – all in Cincinnati!

HUC-JIR is your Reform Rabbinical School responsible for educating the Jewish leaders of your congregation and your community. Through this descriptive series, we will share the stories of the incredible students of HUC-JIR and continue to address the question: "Where do Rabbis Come from?" In the meantime, bookmark us at www.huc.edu!

Shalom Singles

Shalom Singles offers a variety of social events to enhance the lives of Jewish singles, ages 40 to 60, in our community. Just send your e-mail address to singles@templeshalomdallas.org.

Connections Council

The Connections Council is looking for fun and eager volunteers who are looking for new ways to connect with Temple Shalom. Whether you have a lot of time or just a little time, or whether you have been a member of Temple Shalom for decades or just days, we have a spot for you.

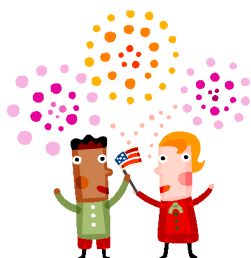

Please e-mail Diane Laner or Irene Sibaja at connections@templeshalomdallas.org if you are ready to join one of these great committees!

STAY & PLAY COMMITTEE

Each Sunday when religious school is in session, the Connections Council makes sure that there are bagels, cream cheese and coffee (with flavored creamers!) for anyone who wants to hang out while their kids are in class. Or anyone who just wants to hang out at Temple! Some weeks we offer events – like yoga, recipe swaps, idea swaps or scrapbooking – and we always have a Mah Jongg set available and wifi for those who need to stay connected. If you would like to plan one or more Sunday events, or just want to meet other parents, being a part of this committee is perfect for you!

SEASONS AT SHALOM COMMITTEE

Throughout the year, Connections Council plans fun events to bring members together. During the summer, we've planned movie nights, challah baking, and the 4th of July fireworks viewing event. In the fall, we've hosted tailgating and movie nights. In the winter, we coordinated Chinese dinners on Christmas Eve, and in the spring.....well.....nothing was planned for this spring, but we're always open to ideas! We're looking for creative and fun committee members who enjoy planning simple events and meeting new people!

HOLIDAY CELEBRATIONS COMMITTEE

Next year, the Holiday Celebrations Committee will develop and plan Temple-wide Hanukkah and Shavuot celebrations, and will work with the Havurah Committee and other Lifelong Learning Council committees to plan events around Sukkot, Passover and other Jewish holidays. Each celebration is a one-time event that does not require a lengthy time commitment throughout the year.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

The Membership Committee works closely with prospective members to introduce them to all facets of Temple Shalom and the Dallas Jewish community, should they be new to our city. We also welcome new members and help them connect to Temple in a way meaningful to them. The Membership Committee heats up right before the High Holy Days and the start of religious school, but has year-round volunteer opportunities as we help new members become involved in Temple life. Membership events include the late summer Prospective Member Brunch, and the spring

New Member Oneg. Being a part of the Membership Committee is a great way to share your knowledge and love of, and experiences at, Temple Shalom.

Connections Council

Havurah

A havurah is a group of Temple members with similar interests who gather for holidays, cultural and educational experiences, game nights, social action and more. It's a great way to connect to our Temple community and the Jewish community at large. Each Havurah determines what it wants to do and plans activities according to its members' interests.

The Havurah Committee is currently working with 11 groups consisting of more than 150 members ranging in age from 1 to 80+. Make new friends and invite your current friends to join you by applying to be in a Havurah - or create a new one!

Click here for a Havurah application or find it on the Havurah page on the Temple Shalom website at www.templeshalomdallas.org. Send in your application TODAY!

Please email questions to havurah@templeshalomdallas.org.
Denise Blasband and Kathryn Frish Havurah Committee Co-Chairs

Worship Committee

Would you like to provide input about worship at Temple Shalom?

We want to hear from you! We meet each month on the 2nd Tuesday at 7:00pm.

Unlock the DreamTour

Friday, May 16
10:00am - Noon

Join the Tikkun Olam Council for an in-depth Habitat tour. Unlike other tours, we will be going to the build neighborhood in Dallas. Come see the house we are helping to build. Interested? Please RSVP by May 5th to socialaction@templeshalomdallas.org.

Temple members Jody Pearson and Nancy Devine with Rachel Sherman (center)

At March 30th's Habitat Information Session, Rachel Sherman, from Habitat for Humanity, presented an overview of the organization's mission, facts about poverty and housing in our Dallas community. Everyone was excited and several members signed up for the build on the spot!

Embrace

Comprised of women from Jewish, Islamic and Christian faiths coming together to share faith, food, celebrations and education.

Dallas Museum of Art Event

Tuesday, May 6 11:00am

Temple Shalom's Embrace group has invited women from Northwood Church in Keller and the Islamic Center in Irving to join us for a docent led tour of The Dallas Museum of Art's new Islamic exhibit: Nur: Light in Art and Science from the Islamic World. We will have time to explore the rest of the museum and go to lunch.

Newcomers welcome. Email or phone Jane Lachman for carpooling information at jalachman1@aol.com or (972) 735-0133.

Caylin, Emily and Ari worked hard at the Tikkun Olam Council's Mitzvah Opportunity at the North Texas Food Bank in March! We packed lots of food for our North Texas neighbors!

Be Green with the Tikkun Olam Council

We are looking for members interested in helping to raise awareness about issues affecting our climate, environment and concrete things we can do within our temple walls and in our own lives to "be more green." All members are welcome to express your interest and ideas. Here are some great resources to inspire: <http://urj.org/socialaction/issues/green/>. Please contact socialaction@templeshalomdallas.org.

To be on the Stewpot cooking mailing list, please email Gail Hartstein at ghartst715@aol.com.

We'll be cooking again in the fall!

Serve Lunch at The Bridge

Julia Michele Warren Scholarship Fund (Greene Family Camp Scholarship)

There are so many meaningful funds our Temple members may donate to in memory or in honor of a special person. We would like to share the history behind the Julia Michele Warren Scholarship Fund for Greene Family Camp. When Greene opened in Waco, Texas in June 1976, a 10 year old girl from Dallas was so excited that she would finally be able to attend camp! Her older brother had attended a camp far from home but, because Julia was asthmatic, she could not follow him because she needed a camp with air conditioning. This brand new camp in Waco had air-conditioned cabins. Julia was the very first camper at Greene Family Camp and had such a great experience she asked to attend the extended two week camp. After Julia, many other children with asthma followed and were able to enjoy it as much as she did.

Unfortunately, two weeks after Julia returned home, she was involved in a tragic horseback riding accident that took her life and Phillip and Alice Warren lost their only daughter. The Warren family wanted to do something to honor Julia, so they established the Julia Michele Warren Scholarship Fund, which is overseen by Sisterhood, to help children who cannot afford the full tuition of Greene Family Camp.

Because of the generosity of Phillip and Alice, founding members of our Temple, many children have been able to be a part of Greene Family Camp. When you make the decision to select a fund, please consider donating to the Julia Michele Warren Scholarship Fund and make a difference in the life of a child.

Remember the song "Closing Time"? There's a great line I like to quote at times like this:

"Every new beginning comes from some other beginning's end."

It's time for a new beginning for Temple Shalom Brotherhood. It has been a great honor to serve the Brotherhood and the Temple as the President of the Brotherhood over these last two years. We've grown our Brotherhood membership, and we've added committed, enthusiastic directors to our Board. We engaged and supported Temple Youth, we've expanded our Programming, and Toast N'Roast has become an appointment not only on the Temple's social calendar, but for the Dallas Jewish Community as well. Those Haggadot from which you read at the Community Seder in April were purchased for the Temple by the Brotherhood; we provided a new Sukkah for the Congregation and we delivered meaningful financial support for the Temple's ongoing operations, in addition to supporting the Temple's Endowment. The Brotherhood's Softball League is growing again and, for the first time in many years, the League will operate on a budget that will make managing its finances significantly easier. I'm particularly proud of the Brotherhood's partnership with the Dallas Holocaust Museum, which has resulted in a number of meaningful Holocaust education experiences. Let us Never Forget!

It has been a truly humbling experience to see this group of passionate Jewish men create and execute a commitment to a better Temple Shalom. I'm excited about the Brotherhood's new Board and Officers. They are ready to lead the Brotherhood forward into the next 50 years of Temple Shalom.

Mazel Tov, as well, to the new Temple Board Members and Executive Committee! I don't envy our Temple's Presumptive President, who fills the shoes so ably worn by Aric Stock these last two years. It's clear to all that Aric's leadership and wisdom have resulted in a rebirth of those things that make Temple Shalom such a special place to all of us. I pray that our new leaders understand those special qualities that make our Temple a unique place to worship, learn, and celebrate our Jewish culture.

A special thanks to Rabbis Paley and Boxman, Executive Director Steve Lewis, and the entire Temple staff. Your dedication to our shared Congregational experience is a role model for synagogues everywhere. I am very blessed to have had the opportunity to work closely with each of you over the last two years.

And now, on to that "New Beginning"!

L'Shalom!

Remember the Temple in Your Will

Temple Shalom is committed to preserving the future of our congregation for generations to come. Bequests of all sizes are important resources for the Temple, and we encourage you to be a link to the future by remembering the Temple in your will. Your lasting tribute is your commitment to the survival of our religion, our Temple, and our people.

A bequest can easily be established by adding a simple codicil to your will. Additionally, many other options exist to leave a legacy for Temple Shalom.

A brochure with more information is available in our main foyer, or by contacting the administrative offices. For more information, please contact our Executive Director Steve Lewis at 972-661-1810 x202.

Your planned gift will serve the future of our congregation and community. Thank you for helping assure the strength and health of Temple Shalom for generations to come.

The on-line directory is updated periodically. Please send any changes to Heidi at hbarishman@templeshalomdallas.org. If you need assistance accessing the directory on our website, please contact Heidi.

As a caring community, we would like to reach out to our members. When there is an illness, death, hospitalization, birth, etc. please contact Joy Addison in Rabbi Paley's office at 972-661-1810 x201 or jaddison@templeshalomdallas.org. Clergy and volunteers are here to help during times of need and celebration.

Our mission is to inspire in you a relationship with God, Torah and the Jewish people. Do you know someone we should invite to Temple, someone who is new to Dallas or is not connected to a congregation?

Please contact Executive Director Steve Lewis so we can show them that Temple Shalom is their place.
