FEBRUARY 2019 SHEVAT - ADAR I 5779

VOLUME 53 NO. 7

Mitzvah Day February 2019

Sunday, February 10

12:00pm - 3:00pm (start with a light lunch)

Boardroom

Ready for our next Mitzvah Afternoon? For this Mitzvah Afternoon, we are planning to introduce you to a community project that's all about making our community better for others.

Have you ever heard the tune "You've got a friend...." by James Taylor? It is a constant refrain around camp and youth group circles to this day. The song conveys a sense of friendship and Shalom that we hope all people will come to know and enjoy. There are times when children and teenagers with special needs feel left out of the circle of friendship, but a group called Friendship Circle <https://www.friendshipdallas.org/> is working to address the need for connection and friendship for all.

Join us on February 10th just after religious school at 12:00pm for a light lunch, learning and a mitzvah project for Friendship Circle participants. Hear all about upcoming ways you and your family can "plug in" to the circle, to spread caring and the mitzvah of friendship - Shalom! - with us on our second Mitzvah Afternoon.

Sign up here: <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/5080849AAA29A64-mitzvah1>

Spaces are limited so hurry!

The Friendship Circle, established in the Dallas Jewish Community in 2016, is dedicated to helping children and young adults with special needs to become more fully integrated into the broader community. Since 1994, Friendship Circles have been created in more than 60 cities around the world.

I Was Just Thinking...

As Jews and people of faith we know that symbols have meaning and we know that there are ideas that are bigger than any one person, worth not just believing in, but fighting for. Words like liberty, equality, freedom, honor, Constitution, republic, democracy need to mean something more than they did last year. Those words and the institutions they support are what drove the revolution from England, the formation of our country and inspire us to transcend the particular moment in which we find ourselves into something better and something brighter.

This is perhaps what Ronald Reagan was thinking when he described America as a “Shining city on a hill” – an America for all to see and emulate. Reagan, of course, borrowed this image from John Winthrop, the Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, who spoke of that colony as a “city on a hill” in his 1630 sermon, “A Model of Christian Charity”.

As Americans we have always desired and agreed to want to be that shining country on the hill and have always argued vociferously about how to do it. From the beginning of the American experiment, foreign visitors noted a key difference between the United States and its European kin. It was not held together by blood or custom. Its citizens had no common history going back to the ancients. They spoke different languages and worshipped in different ways. What constituted America, these observers argued, were ideas. Americans agree to a surprising degree about which symbols and ideas are central to our national life, but we disagree profoundly about what these symbols and ideas mean and how they ought to be translated into public policies. The fights Americans have about who has stolen America and who is going to take it back focus, to be sure, on keywords such as “liberty” and “equality”—on the ideas that energized the new nation and, for a time, rent it asunder. But this conversation is also inspired by key phrases—“a city on the hill,” “We the people,” “one nation, under God,” “I have a dream”—and by inescapable speeches, songs, and stories that carry these words and phrases down through the generations. Finally, and most important, America’s conversation about itself is fueled by passion. And we have seen a lot of it as I pray we always will.

America is not any one thing at any one time; it is a combination of voices and concerns – a symphony or perhaps a cacophony of sounds and struggles fighting for the clarity of those important American values – freedom, liberty, equality, democracy. And we will work to protect those values anywhere, anytime, anyplace as we have since 1776.

It is every citizen's civic right and responsibility to be engaged in the goings on of our country – to vote, to march, to lobby, to speak up and speak out. In this spirit I hope you will consider joining me and others from Temple Shalom May 19-21, 2019 for the Union of Reform Judaism’s Religious Action Center’s conference called “Consultation on Conscience”. It is a biennial social justice leadership conference held over three days in Washington, D.C. The Consultation empowers the Reform Jewish Movement through leadership development; opportunities for network and community building; and active dialogue culminating in an afternoon of advocacy on Capitol Hill about issues of concern to the Reform movement. It is open to anyone looking to build relationships and deepen their engagement with national leaders and policy makers in D.C.

For more information give me a call or visit <https://rac.org/consultation-conscience-2019-schedule>.

Hope to see you in D.C.!

Rabbi Andrew M. Paley

From the Desk of Rodney Schlosser Temple President 2018-2019

Dear Fellow Congregants:

In recent months, I've used this space to profile outstanding Board members, volunteers, and staff. We'll take a quick departure this month to provide updates on two important topics:

Building Improvements

During Hanukkah, two generous families came forward with a $250,000 challenge grant if we can raise $250,000 by February 28...to fund three very necessary projects:

Security: We need to make enhancements to several aspects of our classrooms, meeting spaces, and worship areas in the event of a lockdown or emergency evacuation. After the tragic events at the synagogue in Pittsburgh last year, this has become more important as a complement to our existing security guards, cameras, and locks.

Kitchen Overhaul: It gets heavy use, but some appliances are broken, cabinets are in disrepair, and the layout is no longer optimal for current needs. The plan is to redesign and replace what can't be fixed. This is a big job which we'll schedule for this summer, so it doesn't impact b'nei mitzvahs, Shabbat dinners, or Sisterhood and Brotherhood events.

Roof Repair: The puddles are getting bigger and more frequent, and we can't jeopardize the building's structural integrity. We can't wait any longer.

We don't have time for a big campaign to raise the $250,000 to "earn" the first $250,000, so I encourage you to contact Rabbi Paley, Steve Lewis (executive director), or me (president@TempleShalomDallas.org) if you'd like to discuss a gift. Pledges of $10,000 can be paid over three years, and naming opportunities are available for gifts of $50,000.

Leasing Classrooms to a Charter School

More than 100 members attended the January 6th Town Hall concerning the proposal to lease classrooms to a charter school. The questions and suggestions were helpful, and the Board has also spent considerable time discussing the topic.

The process has yielded strong support for rental income to support our operating budget. Charter schools begin marketing in February/March for the following school year, and that was creating challenges for both our evaluation and the school's hiring and marketing. As a result, the school has revised its targets and will plan for a 2020-21 opening. That will give us more time to complete our evaluation of this school, and potentially others. This will also allow us to work with the City of Dallas on a zoning permit, which is necessary for a school of more than 150 students at our site. I encourage you to reach out to members of the Charter School/Lease Due Diligence Committee if you have questions or input: Bob Aisner, Chair; Richard Frapart, Stephanie Hirsh, Debra Levy-Fritts, and Jason Gadsby. These individuals collectively have extensive experience in public education financing, charter school management, the temple budget, and our tikkun olam initiatives.

Temple Shalom is ours. WE are the community. Thank you for your continued commitment and support for all that WE are doing.

February 2019 B'nei Mitzvah

Get Rid of Old Electronics

February is a great month for Spring cleaning in your home or office -- and getting rid of all of your old electronics! Today's electronics are literally changing by the minute and there is little that can be gained by keeping your old outdated electronics around. So why not go through your home or office this month and pull together all of your old electronics to get rid of?

Don't Throw Your Electronics In The Garbage – RECYCLE!

You may be tempted to throw your old electronics in the garbage, but this is a big mistake. A few of the reasons why you shouldn't throw your electronics in the trash include:

Sensitive Data – Don't give thieves a chance to access personal information that could result in identity theft or financial fraud.

Environmental Impact – Don't add to the mounds of trash that our community throws out each day.

Need Someone to Handle Your Electronic Waste?

Staples stores offer secure, responsible, FREE ELECTRONICS RECYCLING — any brand, any condition, even if you purchased it somewhere else.

BROTHERHOOD

As I write this column, I am overcome with thoughts and feelings, and those that have yet to surface.

These come as a result of our recent Shalom Awards Dinner that just concluded on Sunday, January 13th, which honored Justice Douglas Lang, a veteran former justice on the 5th State District Court of Appeals. Justice Lang described receiving the award as the “greatest honor” of his life to date. He’s led a life of countless achievements in his athletic, educational, legal, charitable, and judicial endeavors to date. His family, friends and colleagues were bowled over by the elaborateness, entertainment value and attention to detail that our Shalom Awards evening provides its attendees. In particular, first-timers! They’re never prepared for what’s about to happen as it never fails to surpass their already heightened expectations.

This year we’d had a particularly blue-ribbon crowd of some of our local area’s most prestigious people from varied professions. These are largely folks who go to awards banquets on a regular basis, expect the usual banquet routine and, if I can be quite cliché, “We took them to school!” When you’ve thoroughly impressed those who’ve encountered it all on the banquet circuit, it leaves one a great feeling of achievement and execution!!

In its 12th year of existence, our Shalom Award Dinner has evolved into something even bigger than our Temple Shalom Brotherhood. This is not us saying it either. It’s the award’s recipients, their families, friends and colleagues who’ve made it so. Having worked pretty actively on five of these now, I can say planning and implementing the evening’s festivities are definitely a lot of work. Yet the dividends always exceed the efforts for those who’ve graciously invested and volunteered their time towards its success.

Our core planning team this year, led by Co-Chairs Perry Zidow and Jim Warner, did a fabulous job bringing this event to fruition. They were supported from the beginning by Shalom Award veterans, Roy Flegenheimer, Scott Butnick, Ken Glaser, and Paul Preite. Countless other Brotherhood and Sisterhood volunteers added their expertise and time along the way and at event time.

It is my honor and pleasure to thank everyone who made this event so special and memorable for Justice Lang, his family, friends, colleagues and our Temple community! We most definitely shined due to your efforts!

For those who’ve yet to attend a Shalom Awards Dinner, I would encourage you to make it to the next one.

Brotherly Yours!

Social Action

In the spirit of WRJ and Tikkun
 Olam, we will be collecting items for the Vogel Alcove. This year the Southwest District is targeting the homeless population, especially women and children.

Dallas also has the HIGHEST child poverty rate in the country among cities with more than 1 million people. 30% of Dallas children grow up in poverty, that means 3,000 kids in our city are currently experiencing homelessness. Vogel Alcove is devoted to helping these children cope with the physical, emotional and mental trauma they are experiencing so that they might succeed in life despite their circumstances.

The biggest needs are: diapers/pull up (any size); baby wipes; baby ointment/creams. We will also accept underwear (sizes 2T-6T) and umbrellas.
