Blueprint 2025 Survey Coming!
Help us assess progress and win an Amazon Gift Card.

We are approaching the end of the first year of our new strategic plan: Blueprint 2025. It has been a far different year than anything the task force imagined while working on it. In many ways it has heightened the importance of the vision, mission and priorities. And our temple members, officers, and staff have stepped up in new and innovative ways to address the many challenges we have faced including tornadoes, pandemics and ice storms. Now we invite you to take a few minutes (no more than ten) to take a look back and tell us about your individual experience/relationship with Temple Shalom this past year, in a short survey. We are all eager to hear how we did so we can plan for the future. In two weeks, you will receive an invite to take the Blueprint 2025 survey. We hope you will respond promptly. We will draw for five $50.00 Amazon gift cards among the first 100 people to respond. We look forward to hearing from you.

A Note from Cantor Avery

A Year

We have made it a year. This March marks one year since the beginning of the lock down orders and the start of real public awareness of the severe nature of Covid-19. On March 9th, 2020, we made the decision to move forward with the in-person Purim spiel. March 13th, 2020, Rabbi Paley and I led our first service without a live congregation in the Epstein Chapel. The following week we led from the sanctuary, more properly socially distanced. On March 27th, 2020, we began Zoom services via Facebook Live.

This year has been – as kids are calling it these days – extra. While we’ve become accustomed to things as they are, I know that many of us are experiencing fatigue and weariness.

We say a prayer of Mi Shebeirach not just for healing, but for any occasion. The words mean, “May the One who blessed…” There’s a "Mi Shebeirach for Those Struggling During Covid 19" by BBYO floating around social media. It inspired me to write my own in honor of our Temple Shalom community.

Mi Shebeirach for Endurance & Perseverance

Mi Shebeirach Avoteinu v’Imoteinu, May the One who blessed our Ancestors, bless us during this time.

Bless us with the willingness to continue to protect ourselves and others. We pray that those places in ourselves that are weary and grieving, be healed and transmuted.

Endow us with the ability to replenish our strength through acts of loving kindness towards ourselves and others.

Bless us with the vigor to care for ourselves in order to create a well of renewing mental, emotional, and spiritual energy.

Grant us the patience and understanding needed to treat all beings with respect, decency, and tolerance - knowing that we are all going through the same extended period of strain and duress.

We pray today and always:

May we continue to find ways to bring joy into our lives
May we find ways to remain connected to our loved ones
May we be gentle and loving with ourselves
May we take ample time to prioritize self-care and self-reflection.
May we discover happiness in new ways
May we create space for our feelings to process and heal
May we remember that our current situation is temporary
May we know that we are loved
May we know that we are not alone

In Peace, Love, and Song,
Cantor Devorah Avery

Maybe, like so many of us, I will admit it, I’ve watched an abundance of Netflix, but I have also turned again to reading poetry. Sometimes poetry makes for better coping than television. It helped me through February. February is often viewed as the worst month of winter, and we, in Texas, have witnessed this first hand during the Polar Vortex or SnowVid, as some are calling the cold weather disaster visited upon our state. From power outages to broken pipes, water boil orders, flooding of homes, our members have experienced the worst of this weather disaster-atop-a-pandemic.

As the neighborhood begins to thaw, I was reminded of this poem by Margaret Atwood, February, which begins, “Winter. Time to eat fat and watch hockey,” and ends with the simple plea all of us could recite now, and share, “Make it be spring.” Amen to that.

Thank you all for checking in with each other, for being good neighbors and friends. To help our membership and community continue to weather the impact of the power outages and crisis, a list of resources can be found on our website www.templeshalomdallas.org.

Spring will bring the annual Yellow Candle Project (see Page 21) sponsored by the Brotherhood. This effort is an important act of remembrance and memorial. I know you join me in sending thanks to the Brotherhood for helping all of us to remember the six million lives lost in the Shoah. Please, remember to light your candle on Wednesday, April 7th.

Since I began with a poem about winter and the wish for spring, I end with a poem about astonishment and gratitude, which we need to hold onto. I am truly grateful for this community, neighbors who lift each other up, to see, again, spring, the beautiful things. Poet Mary Oliver sums up my sense of gratitude here, in her poem, Messenger, helping us to recall our role in making meaning by loving this world.

Lastly, all, I invite you to continue to join us online and on the grounds, to sample, notice and appreciate all the wonderful things here at Shalom. Thank you all, each one who cares and gives, for loving Temple Shalom and caring for each other. I look forward to being with you online and on our grounds, to sharing our programs and moments of worship, work, and belonging with you.

L’Shalom,

Debra Levy-Fritts, President

COVID UPDATE:

During February, physician team members of our Covid-19 Task Force shared a Covid update video. The Covid-19 Update Preview Video can be viewed here: https://app.vidhuq.com/r1CGjMwWu/hug

The wintry weather crisis made it difficult for many interested members to attend the planned 2/16 gathering with the doctors over Zoom, though the video was shared with those who were able to attend that evening.

As the country continues to move through this next phase of the pandemic with vaccination roll-out, our task force team hopes to convene again to share updates with our community! Stay tuned for more information here and in the weekly reminder emails.

Our Future, Our Children

“Just as one sees the light of the stars from one end of the world to the other, so, too, one sees the light of Good People from one end of the world to the other,
Just as the stars are sometimes visible and at other times hidden, so, too, with Good People,
And just as the clusters of stars are so numerous they cannot be counted,
So too, the groups of good people are innumerable”
(Sifre Devarim Ekev 11, 47)

Rabbi Paley, Cantor Avery, Executive Director Steve Lewis, President Debra Levy-Fritts and Annual Fund team member Kathryn Frish gathered on a Sunday in late January to express gratitude to our 2020/5781 Annual Fund Campaign “Our Future, Our Children” patron donors for their contributions to our Temple Shalom family and home. Our gathering was held over Zoom, in lieu of an in-person brunch.

You will find a list of our wonderful patrons and donors below.
We cannot do our good work without all the good people here at Temple Shalom.
We thank you with full hearts for investing in our Temple’s mission and vision.

This month, with various Spring Breaks across our community, our religious school is hardly gathering together, but there is still much to celebrate and much to learn.

Let’s celebrate rest: Many say the Jew’s greatest gift to the world is Shabbat – taking time to pause from work each week. Each month when we gather as Religious School families to celebrate Shabbat, we discuss the Isaiah teaching that reminds us that Shabbat becomes a delight when we refrain from doing what we always do. (58:13) What can you take a break from doing each week? How can you slow down?

In addition to slowing down and making Shabbat a delight, there is also the concept of oneg/joy. What is something you and yours can do to create joy on Shabbat?

Let’s celebrate Freedom: This month we also celebrate Passover, our festival of freedom. We are to celebrate this momentous time of redemption as if we OURSELVES went out from Egypt. Each year we celebrate by retelling the story through the seder. We talk of leaving mitzrayim – the Hebrew word for Egypt. Mitzrayim literally translates as narrow spaces. The Rabbis teach that the experience from Egypt is like coming out from a narrow space. This year we all know what it means to live in confined and narrow spaces. After a year of living with uncertainty and in a much smaller/confined way than we are accustomed, I hope we all experience a newfound sense of freedom through the holiday this year. Watch our Religious School Facebook group for lots of ideas for celebration.

I hope you find much delight in this upcoming break and much oneg/joy each Shabbat and in the Festival of Freedom.

Yom HaShoah Remembrance Candles
Temple Shalom Brotherhood will be sending Yellow Candles to the congregation in March. These candles commemorate Yom HaShoah, Holocaust Remembrance Day, remembering the six million Jews, including approximately one and a half million children, who were murdered during the Holocaust.

Why yellow? It was the color of the Star of David that the Nazis forced Jews to wear so they could be singled out and thus persecuted by the population.

The Brotherhood asks you to consider having your children and grandchildren participate in the lighting of the candles and talk to them about what occurred, considering age appropriateness. Help them understand what prejudice and hatred can do when they are ignored. This year the candle should be lit at sundown on Wednesday, April 7th. Light a Candle, “Preserve a Memory”.

On a voluntary basis, you may make a donation to Temple Shalom Brotherhood to assure this program will continue in the years to come. Information about making the donation will be sent with the candles.

Upstander Speaker Series

The Funk Family Upstander Speaker Series showcases individuals and organizations who stand up for human rights on a local, national, or global level.
Named in loving memory of Blanch & Max Goldberg | Fannie & Isaac Funk.

Mohammed Al Samawi and Justin Hefter

In 2015, Mohammed Al Samawi, an interfaith activist from a Shiite Muslim background, found himself trapped in the city of Aden, Yemen. The target of death threats from al-Qaeda squads, Al Samawi knew his life depended on escaping the city. That’s where Justin Hefter, along with three other young people in the U.S. and Israel, came in.

Growing up in Yemen, Mohammed al Samawi was raised to view Christians and Jews as his enemy. While he was a student at university, a trusted professor shared a copy of the Bible with him. It didn’t take long for Al Samawi to study the text and wonder if his hate was unjustified. He began connecting with young people of other religions on social media and attending interfaith conferences, where he met the people who would ultimately help save his life, including Justin Hefter. When Al Samawi’s life was at risk, Hefter and others reached out across social media platforms to politicians, activists, diplomats, and anyone else who might be able to help to secure Al Samawi’s safe passage out of Yemen and eventually to the United States. But the work did not end there. Both Al Samawi and Hefter continue their interfaith work today.
